Pipeline Coating 2017

14-16 February 2017,

Austria Trend Hotel Savoyen, Vienna, Austria

AMI is pleased to invite you to attend the ninth consecutive annual edition of the international conference Pipeline Coating 2017, which will take place from 14 - 16 February at the Austria Trend Hotel Savoyen in the city of Vienna in Austria. The event starts on Tuesday with an evening Welcome Cocktail Reception and exhibition followed by a 2-day conference programme.

The 2017 technical programme will start with a market review delivered by the Chair, an expert consultant who has analysed the steel pipe coating market, in quantitative and qualitative terms, for the past decade, this will be followed by an exciting array of speakers presenting product and application innovations, solutions to particular requirements, case studies, testing and quality assurance procedures, etc.

The pipeline industry has, in recent years, suffered from adverse market conditions. The leading participants have, however, already adjusted and are currently positioning to exploit new opportunities expected to arise in the next stage of the cycle. Under these circumstances, it is more important than ever for companies and individuals to look outwards and onwards.

With a truly international participation covering the entire supply chain, Pipeline Coating 2017 offers unmatched opportunities to network, exchange experience and learn through interaction with colleagues, suppliers, customers and competitors. Sponsorship packages and table-top displays offer superb opportunity to promote companies, products and services to a knowledgeable, highly relevant audience.

The conference sessions will be held in English and simultaneously translated into Russian.
